Effective Sunday, May 22nd, at 12:01 A. M., Southern Railway train No. 35 Southbound, and No. 28 Northbound will be discontinued. No. 35 Southbound will pass Chester at 7:00 A. M., and No. 28 Northbound passes here at 6:41 P. M. The stops formerly made by these two trains will after Sunday be done by trains Nos. 31 and 32. The discontinuance of No. 35 Southbound will mean that mail now arriving in Chester at 7:30 in the morning will not arrive until 9:15. The railway company states that this step is made necessary on account of the small amount of passenger travel on the trains which are to be discontinued, and the heavy expenses in connection with the operation of same.

The Chester Opera House was packed last evening for the presentation of "The Wishing Ring" which was of local talent and which was produced under the direction of the John B. Rodgers Co., under the supervision of Miss Elter. The participants of the play were all of the local school and each and every one of them did their part well. If we were to attempt to mention those who are deserving of mention, it would take in the entire cast. The audience enjoyed every part of the play and there was enough comedy to be real amusing. The play will be repeated again this evening.

The performance beginning at 8:15 o'clock, the school proportion of the proceeds will go to the athletic association. Reserved seats for tonight's performance are on sale at the Chester Drug Store.

All Ladies' white silk hose, middie and midly suits will go for, Saturday, 21st only. Rodman-Brown Co.

The entertainment committee, of the Chamber of Commerce thought they were up against a tough proposition last week when the matter of entertaining and serving breakfast to the 125 Greenville Bosters came before them. Of course, a breakfast had to be served hot and therein lay the stove question. However, one of the members of the committee thought of Mr. F. I. Fox, manager of the Southern Public Utilities Company in Chester, and his beautiful array of electric ranges. Mr. Fox was called and as a result, said he could be counted on. Three electric ranges were placed in the hall and then the whole business turned over to the ladies of the Civic League. At the appointed hour a very appetizing hot breakfast was served. Whenever Fox and the Civic League get hold of anything you can bank on its coming out in good shape.

Former Chester Lady Entertainers.

A number of Chester friends of Mrs. S. D. Scarborough and Mrs. S. P. Jones, nee Hazel Thomas, will be interested in the following from the Wilmington, N. C., Dispatch of last Friday. A most delightful kitchen shower was given Wednesday afternoon by Mesdames A. G. Brittain, C. H. Berry and S. P. Jones, at the latter's home at Winona, in honor of Miss Lillian Golch, bride-elect of next month.

Upon arrival the guests were met at the door by Mrs. S. P. Jones and Mrs. S. D. Scarborough and invited into the living room, which was decorated with Worthy Perkins roses. Each guest was presented with tiny cards and pening, and asked to write cards which were handed to the honoree, which she read aloud. Following this was an advertising contest, the prize for the highest number being won by Miss Kathryn Overall, Miss Dorothy Berry winning the booty prize.

After several games Master C. H. Berry, Jr., and little Miss Anna King appeared at the door, pulling an express wagon filled with useful products from the bride.

The guests then entered the dining-room which was lovely in the bride's colors, yellow and white. The table was surrounded from the crepe paper was suspended from the four corners of the table. In the center of the table stood a miniature bride with the bride's cake, which was cut, the bride being cut by Miss Connie Wier, who gave the time by Miss Connie Wier, and the thimble going to the bride-elect. A delightful salad course was known by Mrs. C. H. Berry, H. C. Knowles, H. A. King and Miss Nettie Fern Ellis. Miss Dorothy Berry presided at the punch bowl.

BIRTHMARKS.

By H. Addington Bruce.

Every parent having a child with a distinguishing birthmark ought to be informed that such marks are, as a rule, removable. Any parent of such a child should without delay take counsel with a skin specialist relative to the birthmark's removal. For if the birthmark really distinguishes it will mean a handicap on the child's success and happiness in later life.

Men and women badly marked from birth have, it is true, won some happiness and success, sometimes outstanding success. Among my own acquaintances is a notably famous man who is burdened with a serious-looking wine-colored birthmark on one cheek.

But the consciousness of possessing such a mark breeds, as a general thing, unsympathetic bashfulness and diffidence.

It may become even in early life a source of untold misery, under the eyes of unthinking playmates. More than one child has been impelled to do away with himself or herself because of the psychic pain due to the children's tendency to unhealthy habits of scrutinizing and brooding.

And, as stated, there are few birthmarks which modern medical science is incapable of removing.

The method of removal, of course, varies according to the character of the birthmark. For some marks surgery may be needed. Others yield most surely to electrolysis, especially the so-called spider marks, having small centers with radiations.

Electrolysis also is used to some extent for the removal of the more common wine-colored marks. But modern practice seems to be inclined more and more to attack these with what is known as carbon dioxide snow.

"Electrolysis, in the case of 'port-wine stains,' comments Wilfred Fox, in Stimulus and English's System of Treatment, "is most unsatisfactory. Even after repeated sittings the result is usually a pitted, unevenly colored surface."

"The 'snow' treatment consists, essentially, in the application to the birthmark of a cone of solidified carbon dioxide gas. This is applied with a firm pressure for not more than 15 seconds. A blister forms and ultimately falls off, leaving little or no scar."

The application itself is almost painless, though afterward there is likely to be an unpleasant tingling sensation. If great care is taken—Fox says that repeated treatments of but a few seconds' duration give the best results—the birthmark will be entirely done away with.

Liquid air is sometimes used, but it is more painful than the "snow" treatment. Radium may also be utilized, especially for the removal of large, tuberous marks. It is not so efficacious in the case of the red-colored ones, and, concerning its use as a birthmark destroyer, Dr. Montgomery and Culver add the warning:

"One fundamental principle to bear in mind is that it is far better to err on the side of screening too much."

Altogether, then, it would seem correct to say, with Isadore Dyer: "The most satisfactory treatment

GRAIN EXCHANGE MAY BE CLOSED

Possible Result of Passage of Tinchin Bill Declares Head of Chicago Board.

Chicago, May 14.—The Chicago board of trade may withdraw from business if the Tinchin bill to regulate dealings in grain futures which was passed yesterday by the lower house of congress becomes a law. Joseph P. Griffith, president of the board, declared in a statement early today.

"While I do not speak with authority for any exchange excepting the Chicago board of trade," the statement said, "it is my deliberate judgment that the grain exchanges of the country will voluntarily close their doors, rather than submit to the intolerable, unfair and arbitrary features of the bill. The exchanges do not protest regulation, and it is there but for the lower house of congress to legislate if they themselves fail to eradicate such."

"The Tinchin bill, as originally drafted, met with the approval of representatives of the farmers, millers, country and terminal grain dealers and the grain exchanges of the United States."

"Following open hearings on the secretary of agriculture prevailed upon the committee to redraft the pending bill as to delegate to the secretary of agriculture arbitrary and autocratic powers without parallel in the history of legislation in this country. With these modifications it was presented to the lower branch of congress with the intimation it had received my approval as well as that of other interests concerned."

"The farmers' condition will not be relieved until in some way we open up the markets of the world for what the farmer has to sell."

TEXAS BLAMED FOR PINK BOLL WORM

Fails to Employ Adequate Preventive Plan, Is Charge. Recommend That Non-Cotton Zone Be Established Along Mexican Border.

Washington, May 16.—Plans for carrying on a war of extermination against the pink boll worm were drawn up today at a conference between representatives from every cotton growing State and the Department of Agriculture. A committee of two from each State was named to draw up a campaign to be presented at a session of the conference tomorrow.

Texas has failed to provide adequate measures for confining the pest within areas discovered in that State.

of most foods of nausiv (birthmark) is with carbon dioxide snow."

State, Chairman Mariat, of the Federal Horticultural Board, told the conference. Unless Texas was willing to cooperate fully with the other States, he added, the latter would be compelled to employ measures to protect themselves through quarantine.

Delegates from Texas disagreed with some of the criticisms, contending that the question was a national one and that responsibility for the entrance of the pink boll worm from Mexico lay with the federal government and not with Texas, the federal government had control of the border, they added.

The danger spot now lies in the introduction in the El Paso district of Texas, Chairman Mariat said, adding that in his opinion the only way to cotton zone. Representative Hudson, of Texas, said the problem required the cooperation of Mexico and that the American side of the border would be useless in stamping out the pest unless Mexico created a similar non-cotton zone on her side of the boundary.

Other Texans said they had information that the Governor of that State was planning to submit the whole question to a session of the legislature.

A suggestion that the federal government should reimburse the cotton growers in the non-cotton zones instead of the States was favored and referred to the special committee.

LICENSED WAREHOUSES FOR COTTON PROVE POPULAR

A big increase in the number of cotton warehouses licensed by the United States Department of Agriculture under the Federal warehouse act is reported by the Bureau of Markets for the past year. A little more than one year ago a temporary field station was established at Atlanta, Ga., under the administration of the United States warehouse act. At that time there were 8 cotton warehouses in Georgia, 2 in Alabama, 3 in Texas, and 1 in Mississippi licensed under the act. There are now 137 licensed in Georgia, 37 in Alabama, 3 in Mississippi, 1 in Louisiana, 9 in Arkansas and 3 in Texas.

Licensing under the United States warehouse act is permissive and voluntary. During the first years after its enactment in 1916 warehouses were slow to recognize its benefits and farmers were slow to see the value of the standardized receipts made possible by the law, but during the past year many warehouses of different kinds have applied for licenses.

The Federal reserve banks of Atlanta and Dallas are taking an active part in influencing warehousemen to become licensed and bonded, and the Federal Farm Loan Board has approved forms of receipts to be issued to growers who use the warehouses. Very substantial reductions in the rates of fire insurance on licensed warehouses have been granted by various rating bureaus, in many instances amounting to 25 per cent from the scheduled rates.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard
